

Our drawing deals with the fact that American media try to find easy culprits for mass shootings or gun violence in general. Our idea came up with a song by a group of Harlem rappers, called "Flatbush Zombies", the song is named "Breakfast AT Epiffanies". In this song, the last line says "Why would I be a tool, for a nation who, blames these rap dudes for shootings up in schools". With this cartoon, we wish to make you understand that the American media try to blame some innocent victims, like singers who have violent or shocking lyrics for gun violence, and especially mass shootings, because they don't dare to blame the NRA, which seems to be, at least so far, an untargetable lobby. So, they got to find other "ideal" guilty ones for this violence because American people need to know the origin of all of this violence.

①

Thomas Labeyrie Loïc Larribau Rémi Belmonte

s Labeyrie Loic Larribau Rimi Belmonte

SO, INSTEAD OF BLAMING
ME

FOR SHOOTING
UP IN SCHOOLS

Thomas Labeyrie

Loïc Larribau

Rémi Belmonte

